

Letter of recommendation

To Sergey Makridenkov.

Sergey worked as a chief developer on a small but promising project relating video broadcasting in Internet, having in mind his previous experience in multimedia and web programming. I can prove his highest level of qualification in web programming, excellent knowledge of different technological layers. He has brought the project to a high level of technological culture, inducing all team to match it, and implemented effective collaboration in our distributed team.

Sergey never treated project formally, deeply analysing its goals and choosing the means and ways, predicting possible future growth, giving priority to quality. His responsibility and accuracy, positive way of thinking and effectiveness can be confirmed by all team members.

Thus, I highly recommend Sergey as a skilled and responsible professional, able to work remotely, reliable and friendly team member you'd love to work with.

If you need more details on my working experience with Sergey, please do not hesitate to contact me by e-mail denis.korolev@divite.ru.

Denis Korolev, Ph.D.

CEO of Digital Video Technologies
Associate professor at School of Computer Engineering,
HSE, Moscow.

11.11.2015

